Eric Isaacs, a 35 year-old South Lebanon man, was sentenced today in the Warren County Court of Common Pleas to serve nine years in prison. On February 18, 2014, Isaacs pled to a twenty-two count indictment involving, among other charges, four counts of burglary, eight counts of attempted burglary, and one count of grand theft of a motor vehicle. Judge Donald Oda sentence Isaacs to serve two years for each burglary to run consecutive to each other, and 12 months for the remaining felony charges to run concurrent to one another, but consecutive to the burglary charges.

From August 27, 2013 to September 16, 2013, Isaacs burglarized 13 homes in subdivisions in South Lebanon and Lebanon. In each case, Isaacs used a pocket knife to cut open window screens to gain access to the victims' home while they were sleeping. Once inside the homes, Isaacs stole electronic equipment and credit cards. During his last offense, Isaacs stole an ATV from a shed and crashed along the Lebanon Bike Trail. Isaacs sustained an injury to his eye and was apprehended by the Warren County Sheriff's Office.

Isaacs has a history of similar conduct involving robbery, burglary, and breaking and entering, and has been to prison on five different occasions.

Warren County Prosecutor David P. Fornshell commended the investigation of Warren County Sheriff's Office Detective Chris Wong and several other deputies that assisted in apprehending Isaacs, as well as Assistant Prosecutors Carrie Heisele and Travis Vieux, who prosecuted the case.
